先通读短文, 掌握其大意, 然后从 A、B、C、D 四个选项中选出一个可以填入相应空白处的最佳答案。

I was cycling one day and noticed a person in front of me, about 250 meters ahead. He was cycling a little slower than me and I decided to catch up with him.

I had about 1 kilometer to go on the road before turning off. So I 36 cycling faster and faster. After a few 37 I was only about 100 meters behind him, so I really picked up the pace and pushed 38.

Finally, I caught up with him and passed him by. I felt so good. "I 39," I thought, "though he didn't even know we were racing."

However, after I 40 him, I realized that I had been so focused on competing with him that I had missed my turn. I had gone 41 six blocks past it and had to turn around and go back.

Isn't it just 42 life? We often focus on competing with others, trying to show that we are 43 than them. We spend some time and energy chasing after them and we miss out on our own paths in life.

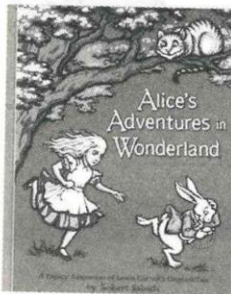

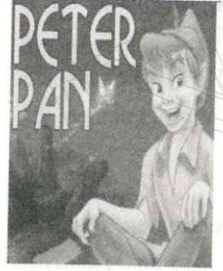

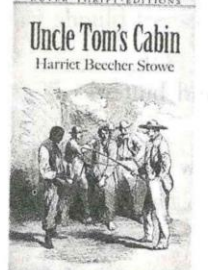

The problem with unhealthy 44 is that it's a never-ending cycle. There will always be somebody ahead of us. 45 stay focused and live a healthy life; run our own race.

Jerome Johnstone is good at running. He always wins the races at Serpentine Primary School in Serpentine, Western Australia. However, after giving up winning a school running race, the boy has won the hearts of thousands of people. In the race, the kind boy ran back to walk with his good friend Seth Johnstone and let him cross the finishing line first.

Seth was born with cerebral palsy (大脑性瘫痪). Since he moved to the school, he has got a lot of problems. Luckily, Jerome was chosen to help him with things like going to the toilet and showing him around. The two boys soon became good friends. With Jerome's help, Seth fits in well with his new school now. Because of his illness, Seth has a big head and some of the students laugh at him and make fun of his look. Jerome often has a word with them one by one, asking them not to do that again. Together with Seth's younger sister, the kind-hearted boy takes good care of Seth at school.

Seth's father can't thank Jerome enough for looking after his son and protecting Seth against bullies (恃强凌弱者). "Jerome is just such a good kid," Seth's father said. The two boy's story

The Tower of London is in the north bank of the River Thames. According to the history, King Edward of England had promised to give the throne to William, Duke of Normandy. But at last he gave the throne to Harold Godwinson, his English brother in law.

William was quite angry that he was not the king. He sent his army to fight against England and on October 14, 1066, the Duke's Norman soldiers won, and later, William became the king. At the beginning, the new king thought the people of London did not obey rules. And the new king felt that he needed to protect himself and keep the wild people of London in line. So he built the Tower of London soon.

The tower was a changing project for the kings of England. King after king built upon the tower adding walls and smaller towers around it. Around the year 1240 King Henry III made the tower of London his home. He whitewashed the tower, widened the grounds to include a church, and added a great hall and other buildings. The Normans called the tower "La Tour Blanche (White tower)".

As time went by, the addition of other smaller towers, extra buildings, walls and walkways, became the splendid example of castle, fortress, prison, palace and finally museum that we enjoy today.

Funny things may happen in different places around the world. 61 Yes. Every year, it was held by the Oxford and the Cambridge in late March or early April on the Thames River, England. This boat race is as famous as the two oldest universities in Britain.

62 It came from two friends—Charles Merivale, a student at Cambridge, and his friend Charles Wordsworth who was at Oxford. They decided to set up a boat race between the two universities. On March 12, 1829, Cambridge sent a challenge to Oxford first.

The first boat race took place in a small town in Thames. 63 Crowds of twenty thousand traveled to watch. It was so exciting. And the Oxford was clear winners. Later on, not only did the students from the two universities take part, but also some social groups attended the event. By 1845, with the small town becoming too crowded, the boat race had moved six miles up to the village—Putney. 64 This boat race is considered to be "the world's oldest sporting challenge".

The race is four and a quarter miles in just 20 minutes and the competitors often face difficulties. 65 In the past, the Oxford was mostly the winners. But things have changed from 1993 on. The Cambridge has won more.

根据材料内容,从下面五个选项中选出能填入文中空缺处的最佳选项,使短文意思通顺、内容完整。

- A. From 1856 on, the race has been held every year except war years.
